

ANNOUNCEMENT

NICAS COLLOQUIUM

Dear colleagues,

In the light of all the research projects and activities that are taking place in the Atelier Building and in the context of the Netherlands Institute for Conservation+Art+Science+ (NICAS), we have taken the initiative to launch the NICAS colloquium.

This colloquium provides a platform to stay informed about the latest developments and results and to exchange information and expertise between the fields of science, conservation and art history.

Frequency and format

The NICAS Colloquium is a bi-weekly lunch meeting, with two research lectures of 15 minutes each and 10-15 minutes discussion time per lecture. The chair of the meeting circulates amongst PhD-students and researchers. The lectures will be in English.

Time and location

12.00-13.00 hrs. on Thursday, conference room B of the Atelier Building (unless stated otherwise), Hobbemastraat 22, Amsterdam.

We hope to see you all at the NICAS colloquium!
